

Political Violence in Modern America: An Intimate History

presented by Professor Kevin Boyle, Professor of American History
Weinberg College of Arts and Sciences, Northwestern University

Wednesday
November 28, 2018
6:30 - 8:00pm

The Firehouse Grill
750 Chicago Avenue
Evanston

Political violence runs through the American experience. In this presentation Kevin Boyle will explore two terrible events in modern American history, one from the 1910s, the other from the 1930s. They have no connection whatsoever. Yet once they're put together they reveal a central dynamic of the brutal violence that has long plagued our nation.